Privacy Policy Statement

This is the web site of BrainHelper.org. We can be reached via e-mail at support@brainhelper.org. For each visitor to our Web page, our Web server automatically recognizes no information regarding the domain or e-mail address.

We collect only the domain name, but not the e-mail address of visitors to our Web page, the e-mail addresses of those who post messages to our bulletin board, information volunteered by the consumer, such as survey information and/or site registrations. The information we collect is used for internal review and is then discarded, used to improve the content of our Web page, used to customize the content and/or layout of our page for each individual visitor.

With respect to cookies: We use cookies to record user-specific information on what pages users access or visit. If you do not want to receive e-mail from us in the future, please let us know by sending us e-mail at the above address.

We do not partner with or have special relationships with any ad server companies.

From time to time, we may use customer information for new, unanticipated uses not previously disclosed in our privacy notice. If our information practices change at some time in the future we will post the policy changes to our Web site to notify you of these changes and we will use for these new purposes only data collected from the time of the policy change forward.

If you are concerned about how your information is used, you should check back at our Web site periodically. Upon request we offer visitors the ability to have inaccuracies corrected in contact information. Consumers can have this information corrected by sending us e-mail at the above address.

With respect to security: We have appropriate security measures in place in our physical facilities to protect against the loss, misuse or alteration of information that we have collected from you at our site. If you feel that this site is not following its stated information policy, you may contact state or local chapters of the Better Business Bureau.
